

Hurricane Ridge Snowshoe Tour

Port Angeles provides one of the most unique wintertime experiences within the Pacific Northwest. Imagine a day where you depart from the temperate climate at sea-level, and within a 1 hour drive you arrive at a winter wonderland atop Hurricane Ridge, which averages 33 feet of snowfall annually! How lucky are we to have the glacier-capped Olympic Mountains on one side and ocean views of the Strait of Juan De Fuca and Port Angeles on the other as we trek along Hurricane Hill during our snowshoe tours. On a clear day, our guided snowshoe hike to Hurricane Hill provides a front-row view of the Bailey Range, Mount Olympus, the Strait of Juan De Fuca, and the stunning snow-covered subalpine terrain. On a snowy day, the guided trek feels like a magical snow-globe experience and provides us some fresh powder for fun challenges and friendly competitions.
